
MY Therapists Platform

The beginning of a new era

www.my-therapists.com

About Us

We are a platform affiliated with the American company My Therapists LLC, currently operating in the Middle East, Africa, and the Arab Gulf countries. We have noticed that the challenges in these regions differ from anywhere else. Moreover, there are tremendous opportunities in these areas, and the environment is conducive to the spread of Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) sciences. However, there have been obstacles hindering this progress. The idea behind our platform was to provide solutions and capabilities that comply with the requirements of ABA sciences and their ethical code, thus becoming the first business model to achieve such standards. This allows these sciences to reach every corner of the world.

The capabilities of centers on the platform include

Adding therapists

Centers can add certified therapists to their account. The specialists must meet specific requirements, which will be explained in detail later.

Adding parents and students

Centers have the ability to add parents and students to their account, allowing them to access relevant information and resources.

Adding courses

Centers can add training courses with all the necessary features, which are provided by the platform's control panel.

Supervision capabilities

Centers have functionalities related to supervising registered specialists, allowing them to monitor and oversee their activities.

Requirements for a center to be on the platform (On-ground centers)

Provide a copy of the center's registration in their respective country.

Have certified supervisors at the center.

Have a minimum of three certified technicians at the center.

Operate the center in accordance with the ethical code of applied behavior analysis.

Comply with the platform's regulations and provide any requested information to ensure adherence to the ethical code.

Technicians at the center must successfully complete the platform's free refresher course on the ethical code of applied behavior analysis

Recently, we have noticed the presence of several centers falsely claiming to operate based on applied behavior analysis (ABA) ethical code, while they are far from adhering to it. Therefore, having your center operating according to ABA ethical code on the platform will provide a reliable option for individuals seeking centers that truly follow these ethical standards in their region. These requirements have been established to ensure that all registered centers on the platform genuinely operate based on ABA ethical code.

Virtual Centers

the platform provide the opportunity to establish virtual centers on the platform. There are requirements for establishing such centers, with the most important one being that the founder must be a certified supervisor in applied behavior analysis (ABA). Virtual centers address supervision challenges in remote geographic areas where there may be a lack of local supervisors. The supervisor, through their virtual center, can oversee a group of technicians working in different locations and countries, providing services either face-to-face or online.

Requirements for establishing a virtual center on the platform to Be a certified supervisor in applied behavior analysis (ABA).

Have a minimum of 5 certified technicians in applied behavior analysis (ABA) ready to start it with you Provide certificates and accreditations for review by the platform.

The number of technicians under your supervision should not exceed the number that you can effectively manage within your available time.

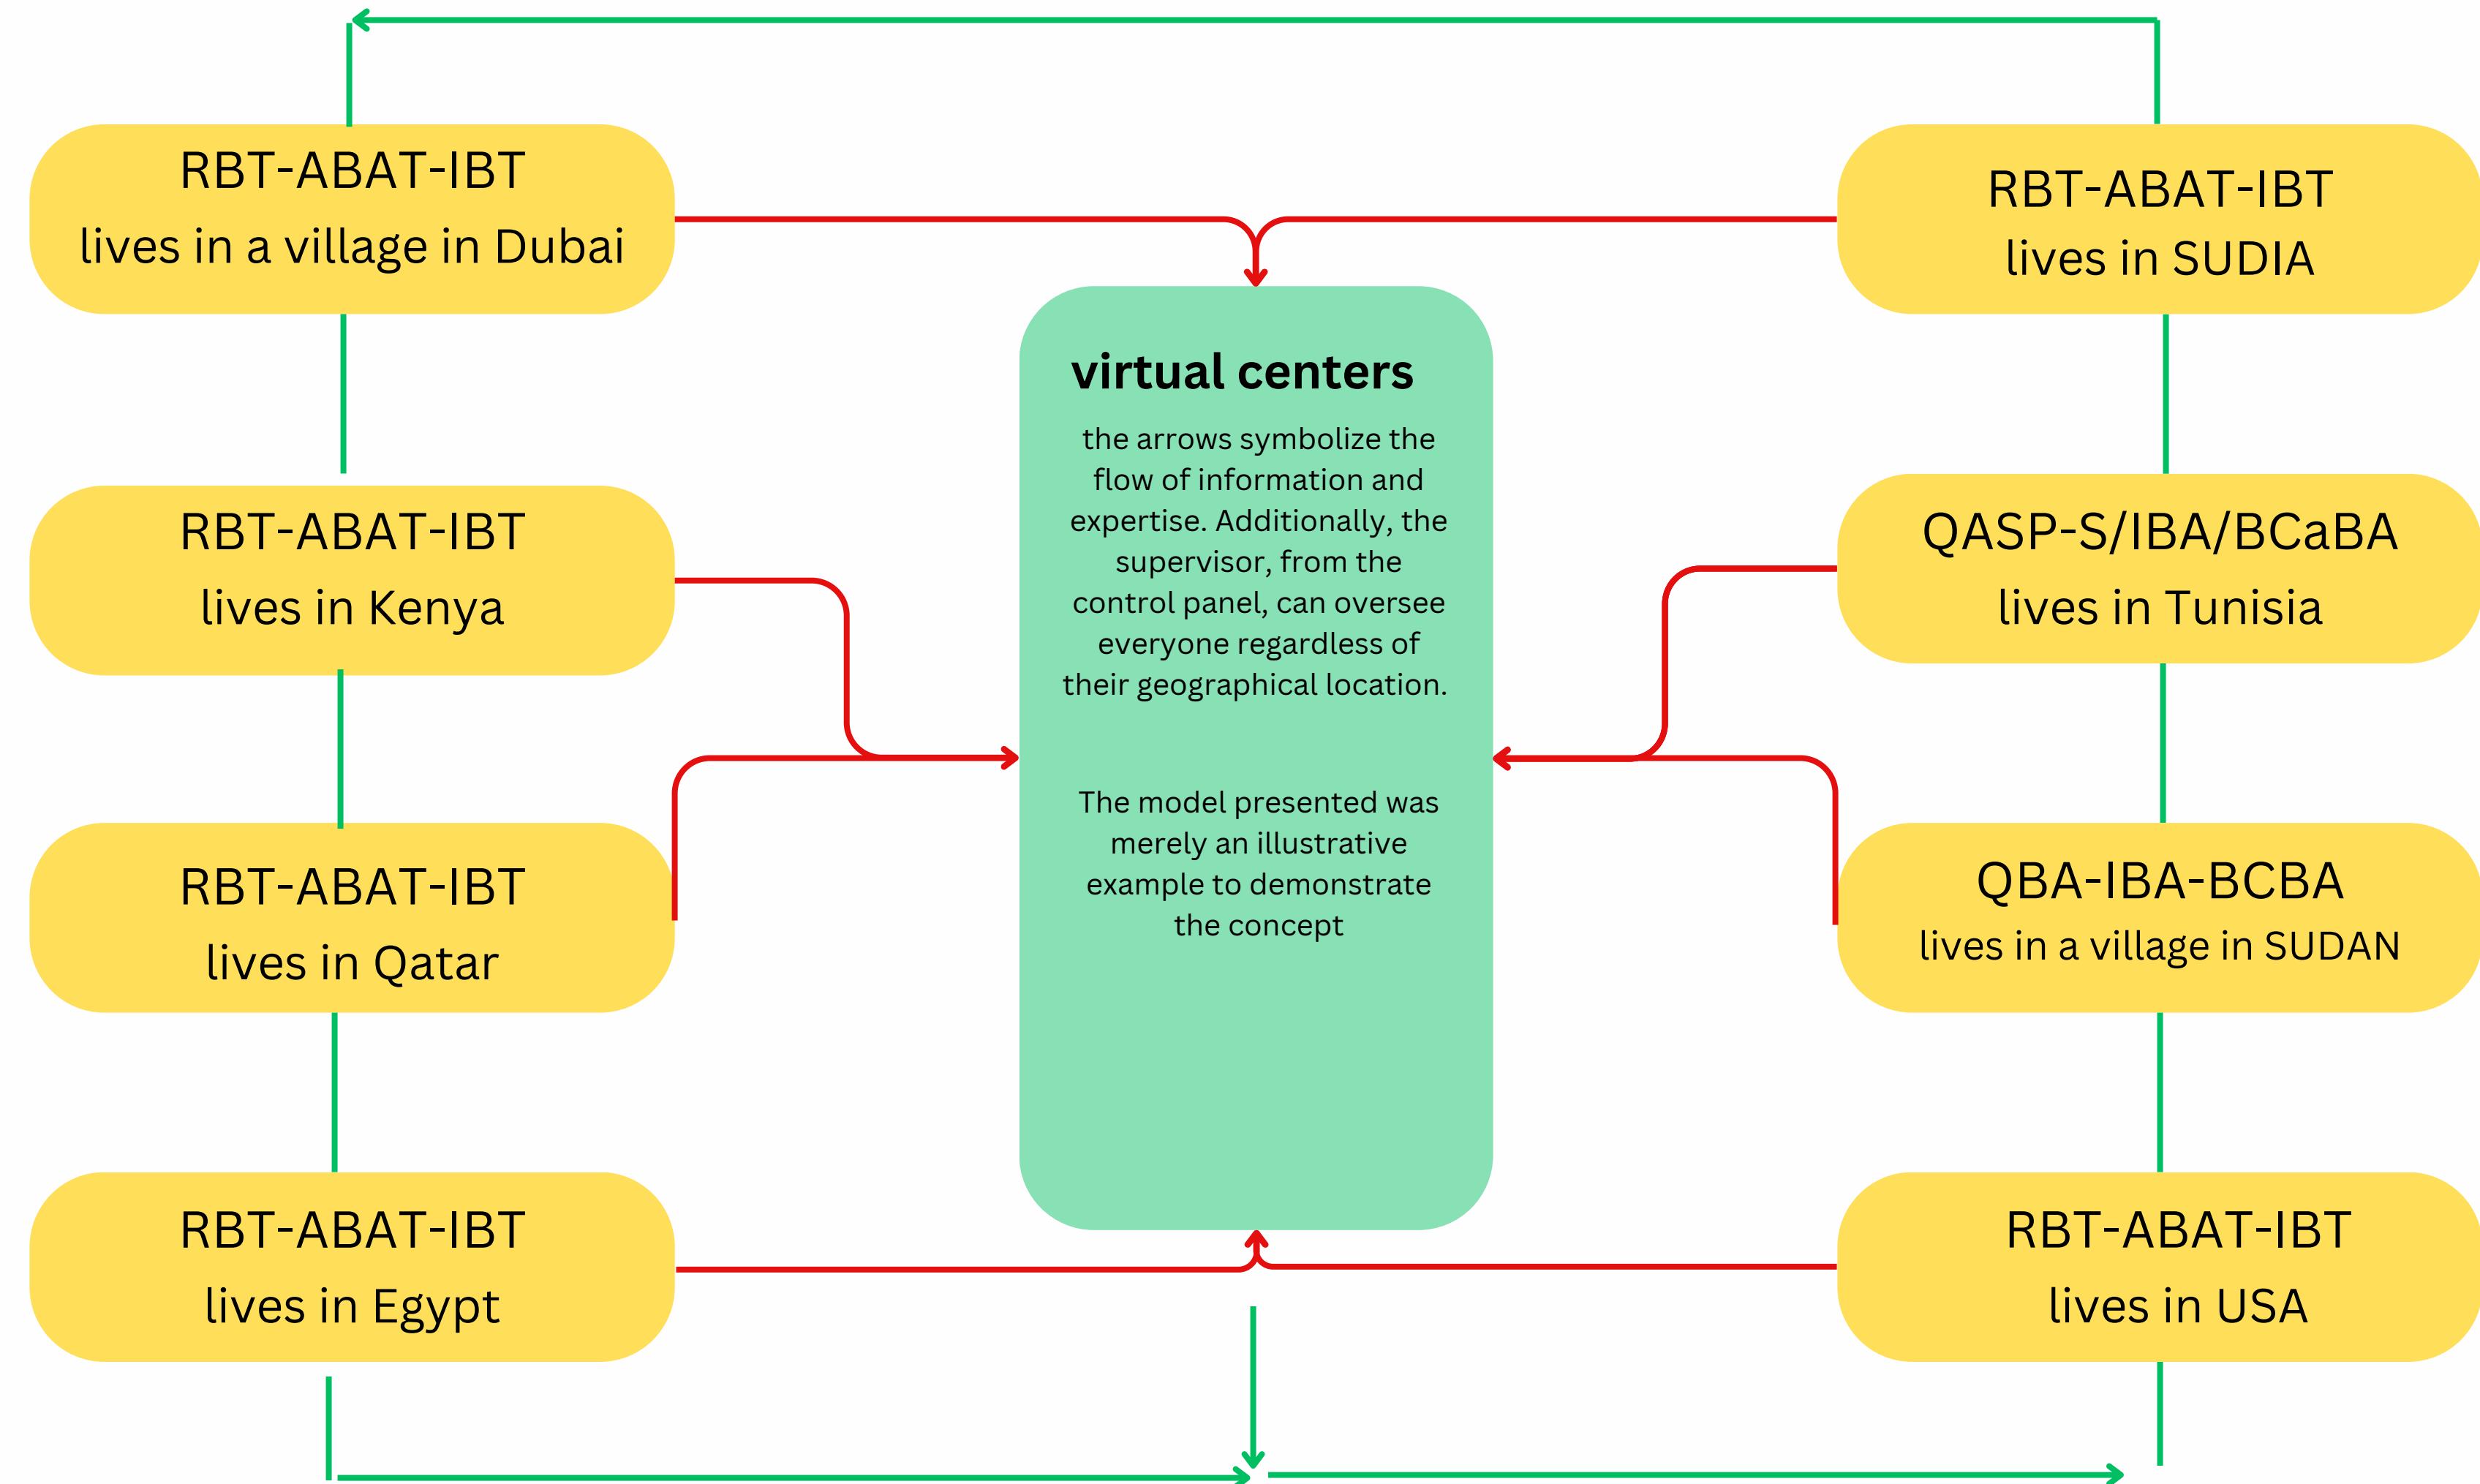

Adhere to the ethical code and supervise technicians in all their sessions, whether conducted outside the platform or online on the platform.

Report any violations of the ethical code by registered technicians under your supervision, if such violations occur.

There are also specialized virtual centers on the platform. For example, if the supervisor is a specialist in occupational therapy, they can create a specialized center where all certified technicians with them are specialized in occupational therapy. Virtual centers have the same capabilities as other centers. Modern technology would allow the supervisor to oversee a technician living on the surface of Mars if there was an internet connection, even though it might be a humorous exaggeration. However, our current focus is on bringing the science of applied behavior analysis to every corner of the Earth.
